Model Parliament

Inaugural of Model Parliament Competition-2018 on 4-8-2018

KILPAR is forefront in conducting various programmes on Parliament and Assembly procedure since 2005. To name a few, it conducted quiz programmes, women's parliament and model assembly session along with KSLU way back in 2016, and also is conducting the present State Level Model Legislative Session Competition-2018, in association with Karnataka State Law

University. During the training that was conducted on 03-08-2018 students were made aware of the working of the parliament and assembly. It is a major step in improving parliamentary education and the knowhow as to how our parliamentary democracy works and an excellent opportunity to teach the student community how to debate and present their point of view on different bills and issues. They were also taught research skills in developing their positions on an issue and trained to debate in order to develop oral presentation skills and critical thinking, listening and researching.

Shri N.C. Shrinivas, Principal Secretary, Dept. of Law, Govt. of Karnataka inaugurated the event. KSLU's Journal of Sports and Entertainment Law Vol.3 was released by the dignitaries. In the inaugural address Shri N.C. Shrinivas, shared his experiences and highlighted the importance of excellent quality legal education, in order to improve the legal field and society. He said that along with academics law colleges must train students in research oriented, argumentative and analytic skills. He also highlighted the need for being proficient in regional and English language as well. He called upon the students to make use of plenty of opportunities that are available for them which will give them the confidence to accept challenges in life.

Prof. (Dr.) P. Ishwar Bhat, Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, KSLU, Hubballi delivered the Presidential remarks. He said that such competitions enhance skills of advocacy, improve confidence and help students to seize opportunities available in the future. He further spoke on the importance of the British Parliament which played a vital role in the legal field, which was later imbibed in the Indian Parliamentary System. He made a mention of the yeomen services of Edmund Burke, Gladstone, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar and Alladi Krishna Iyer and many others who rendered services to the legal field and humanity at large. Shri H.K. Jagadeesh, Special Secretary, Dept. of Law and Director, KILPAR, Bengaluru was the Chief Guest. Prof. (Dr.) C.S. Patil, Dean KSLU, Hubballi, Shri A.V. Shri Nallamuthu, State Director, Khadi and Village Industries Commission, Bengaluru delivered the introductory speech. He introduced all the schemes provided for Khadi artisans, in order to encourage them, namely, subsidy linked loan facilities, facilities like insurance and Khadi artisan Panchayat to redress their grievances. He also said that KVIC is implementing Khadi programmes in every state to provide employment through its registered Khadi Institutions. He also expressed appreciation for Karnataka State, as it provides an encouraging picture and tops in the use and manufacture of Khadi.

Shri. G. Chandramouli, Hon'ble Member (SZ), Khadi and V I Commission delivered the inaugural speech. He spoke on the aims and objectives of KVIC, and as to why it was initiated. At this juncture, he said that the objective behind the concept is to encourage skill development and employment facilities to local people.

Shri. Guruprasannan, Dy. Chief Executive officer (SZ) zonal office KVIC, Bengaluru said that the capability of the process of making the National Flag can be traced to Dharwad district and so the purity of Khadi can be seen here.

Shri. Basavaprabhu Hosakeri, President, Dharwad Taluka Garag Kshetriya Seva Sangh, Garag, said that, Khadi is a way of life by which we can build and save our nation. He said that it is second to Agriculture in providing employment to people. We should use Khadi to save our country and exhibit patriotism and not merely by shouting slogans of patriotism. He also spoke about the uniqueness of Khadi.

Dr. G.B. Patil, Registrar, (Eval.) I/c. KSLU said that the University has made Khadi uniform compulsory in the campus and all affiliated colleges every Monday. He called upon the students to join hands and strengthen Khadi industry, as it is a symbol of humanity, peace and unity.
